

Holy One of Blessing...

Guide us now as we find ourselves experiencing emotions of fear, panic, anxiety, exhaustion, and pain. May we, instead, feel hope, gratitude, joy, patience, love, and most of all...healing.

As our world collectively struggles, may we also find strength, working together.

May this be a time to heighten acts of kindness and compassion. Perhaps, we can all find the time to check in on someone and make their day.

Even as we experience physical loneliness, may we feel surrounded by friendship and love.

May we not only seek the day when we can, once again, hug our family and friends... May we see that day soon.

Source of light, comfort, and courage...
Hear our prayer, and bless us.
